N2Y, INC.® ANNOUNCES SYMBOLSTIX ONLINE HAS OFFICIALLY LAUNCHED

Thursday, October 1, 2009: N2Y announces the launch of the much anticipated SymbolStix ONLINE symbol set. Subscribers to the weekly News-2-You newspaper and monthly Unique Learning System curriculum have been using the SymbolStix symbols for years, but users have long requested the ability to use this symbology in other developmental programs. That capability is now here.

For an introductory annual fee of $99/user ($129 list price), individuals can now access over 12,000 symbols in multiple languages! All symbols can be downloaded in a variety of picture formats for import into the design software of the user's choice. Weekly, subscribers will also receive—completely free—updated symbols from the newspaper and curriculum, eliminating the need for updates or addendums to their libraries. This dynamic update feature will allow subscribers to have the most up-to-date SymbolStix symbols currently available. There is also a basic search feature built-in making it very easy for a user to search for the symbols they need and download them, all in one click. The launch of this symbol set now provides users consistency across the board, not only for all of our products but for the other products they develop for classroom use. This consistency is a must for many of the students our products serve. If you are interested in subscribing and receiving immediate access to this revolutionary symbol set, please visit us at <https://www.symbolstix.com/subscribe/>

Attending ATIA? For more information and to see all of our products in action please be sure to visit us at booth 110 at ATIA Chicago (October 28 – 31, 2009) and booth 610 ATIA Orlando (January 27 – 30, 2010)

N2Y, Inc.® is a family-run, online education publishing company started by Jacquie Clark, a speech-language pathologist with over 30 years experience in and out of the classroom. N2Y, Inc.® has grown to include a weekly newspaper, online curriculum and dynamic symbol set. The New-2-You current events newspaper utilizes concise, symbol-supported text to deliver current events news to a population previously denied this information. The Unique Learning System is the only comprehensive Web-based and standards-based curriculum specifically designed for special learners. Recently launched SymbolStix
