N2Y, INC.® ANNOUNCES SYMBOLSTIX SYMBOLS UPSIZED TO HIGH RESOLUTION 200 DPI

Thursday, February 11, 2010: N2Y announces two of the now-available SymbolStix download formats (.png & .gif) have increased to 200 dpi resolution! This announcement will interest our subscribers utilizing SMART board® or other interactive white boards and projection technology. You now have the ability to scale our symbols to meet the needs of students that require more visual support. With the increased adoption of these types of projection technologies in classrooms, SymbolStix ONLINE users can now expand the use of our symbol set both on screen and in print form.

Typical symbol sets are provided at approximately 80 dpi, and they will become blurry when expanded to an increased size. Not SymbolStix! You now have the ability to expand images to 300-400% the original size with minimal resolution loss! The SymbolStix symbols can still be used in any of the communication devices at a much smaller size. The new capability will not impact functionality for current users at all. The entire library of over 12, 000 symbols has been revised, and our subscribers will not have to do anything different. Download and enjoy the ability to view, print and use a high resolution SymbolStix symbol!

SymbolStix ONLINE is available for an introductory annual fee of $99/user ($129 list price). Individuals can now access over 12,000 symbols in multiple languages! All symbols can be downloaded in a variety of picture formats for import into the design software of the user's choice. Weekly, subscribers will also receive—completely free— updated symbols from the newspaper and curriculum, eliminating the need for updates or addendums to their libraries. This dynamic update feature will allow subscribers to have the most up-to-date SymbolStix symbols currently available.

Additionally, a built-in basic search feature makes it very easy for a user to search for and download the symbols they need, all in one click. The launch of the SymbolStix symbol set now provides users consistency across the board, not only for all of our products but for the other products they develop for classroom use. This consistency is a must for many of the students our products serve. If you are interested in subscribing and receiving immediate access to this revolutionary symbol set, please visit us at <https://www.symbolstix.com/subscribe/>

N2Y, Inc.® is a family-run, online education publishing company started by Jacquie Clark, a speech-language pathologist with over 30 years experience in and out of the classroom. N2Y, Inc.® has grown to include a weekly newspaper, online curriculum and dynamic symbol set. The New-2-You current events newspaper utilizes concise, symbol-supported text to deliver current events news to a population previously denied this information. The Unique Learning System is the only comprehensive Web-based and standards-based curriculum specifically designed for special learners. Recently launched SymbolStix ONLINE, the newest and most dynamic symbol set ever developed. The set is used exclusively throughout the News-2-You newspaper and the Unique curriculum.
